As the Chairman and Managing Director of Glenmark Pharmaceuticals Ltd., Glenn Saldanha oversees the entire operations of the organization.

Following his higher education and a stellar career stint with some of the leading global organizations in the US, Glenn returned to India in 1998 with an ambition to create something unique. Recognizing the enormous opportunity in the Indian Pharmaceutical Industry, he joined Glenmark and took over the operations as the CEO. During his tenure, Glenmark has been transformed into a truly global integrated research-led organization with revenue in excess of INR 10,900 crores (USD 1.5 billion) and offices in more than 50 countries across all major regions including the US, India, Europe, Asia, Africa, Latin America and RCIS. Glenmark has also established itself among the Top 50 generics and biosimilars companies (as per the Top 50 Company Rankings, 2020, from Informa's Generics Bulletin). Presently, over 70% of Glenmark's total turnover comes from the overseas operations.

- ▶ India's second most Valuable CEO – Business World, December 2008
- ▶ '21 leaders to watch out for in the 21st Century' – Business Today, January 2008

Past Experience:

- ▶ Joined Eli Lilly's global marketing team soon after graduation
- ▶ Last assignment with PricewaterhouseCoopers USA
- ▶ As consultant at PWC, he worked with Rhone Poulenc Rhorer, Bristol Myers Squibb, Astra Merck and Smith Kline Beecham

Educational Qualifications:

- ▶ Bachelor's degree in Pharmacy from Mumbai University
- ▶ MBA from Leonard Stern School of Business, New York University

During his tenure, the biggest achievement for Glenmark has been its ability to discover global best-in-class or first-in-class molecules catering to unmet medical needs, thus positioning Glenmark as a leader in drug discovery. Glenmark has managed to strike seven out-licensing deals in innovative R&D with big pharmaceutical companies. Presently, Glenmark has a diverse pipeline with several compounds in various stages of clinical development primarily focused in the therapeutic areas of oncology, respiratory, and dermatology. Glenn's vision is to discover, develop and take to market India's first innovative drug for the entire world.

Glenn holds a bachelor's degree in Pharmacy from Mumbai University and holds an MBA from Leonard Stern School of Business, New York University. Prior to Glenmark, he has worked with Eli Lilly, USA and PricewaterhouseCoopers, USA.

Glenn was recognized as the 'EY Entrepreneur of the Year 2017' in Life Sciences & Healthcare category, India. In 2014, he was conferred with 'Best CEO: Pharma & Healthcare (mid-sized companies)' by Business Today. Also in the same year he was among the ranking of 'Top 50 CEOs in India' by Entrepreneur Magazine. He was also conferred with the 'Swiss Ambassador's Award for Exceptional Innovation' – Embassy of Switzerland in 2012 and was among the 'Top 30 Youth Icons of India' 2012 by Hindustan Times.
